

Name _____

Date _____

The First Conditional

The First Conditional talks about a specific situation whereas the zero conditional refers to a general situation.

Zero Conditional: If you touch a hot stove, you get burned.

First Conditional: If you touch the hot stove, you will get burned.

Write first conditional sentences using the words in the parenthesis.

(rains / bring an umbrella)

If it rains, I will bring an umbrella.

(finish chores / go to party)

---

(we go / bring the snacks)

---

(hot tomorrow / go to the beach)

---