

Under It All

An indefinite pronoun is one that does not refer to any definite or specific person, place or thing. Some examples are all, any, and some. Underline the indefinite pronoun in each sentence.

1. Did you tell anybody about us?
2. May I have a few pieces of candy?
3. Would you like some, too?
4. I can't eat any.
5. Someone said that you were looking for me.
6. I gave everything to you.
7. There were many people there.
8. I looked for them, but neither was there.
9. Everyone loves this song.
10. Each decided to travel.
11. Is somebody going to show up tonight?
12. Few like to be lied to.
13. Is anyone feeling good today?
14. Nobody knows the trouble I've seen.
