"Hi Katie! What are you doing?" asked Bart.

"I'm watching my ant farm for my science class journal. What did you choose for your project?" Katie said.

"I planted cucumbers and have to journal how much they grow and how much water I give them," Bart replied.

"Neat! Do you get to eat them when you're done?" Katie asked.

"Yep. And you will too. I'll be taking them to class on our project day!"

"Cool," said Katie. "My ants are neat, but I don't think they taste good."