

Creating Your Own Store

Stores sell all kinds of things. Stores sell things that go beep and things that we eat. If you could create your own store, what would you sell? It's your turn to tell us all about your store.

Color your store below. Give your store a name and draw the things that you sell inside the store.

You will need writing paper or a computer to complete the items below. Place a check in the box after you complete each task.

- In three detailed paragraphs explain an average day at your store from opening to closing the store.
- You can't run the store all by yourself. Explain in detail three different jobs that you would need to hire people for.
- Write 3 questions that you would ask all the people that applied for a job at your store.
