Celebrating Holidays Before Other Holidays

Directions: Using the prompt, write an opinion piece except for the concluding sentence. Be sure to include a topic sentence and 3-4 body sentences. Switch papers with a classmate, and write a concluding sentence for their paragraph.

Most stores are way ahead of the holidays. For example, before Thanksgiving comes, stores usually have Christmas decorations out. Do you think this is right? Should stores be advertising and decorating for one holiday when other holidays haven’t even occurred yet? Why or why not?

____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________

Concluding sentence:
____________________________________________________________________________________