Linking words can make a story or report flow smoother. Some linking words include: also, another, and, more, but, because, therefore, since, for example, first, second, in conclusion, finally, as you can see, otherwise, however, so that, besides, yet, as though, before

Using the words listed above (note: not all words will be used) help finish this report about How to Build a Puzzle

When you are building a puzzle with somebody else you want to be sure that you are working as a team. ______________, you should always make sure that you aren't taking over the puzzle as your own ______________ there is no "i" in "team".

_____________, lay out all of the puzzle pieces so that they are all facing up. Separating them by edge pieces and middle pieces is a good idea too ____________ that will aid you in the building process. ______________, working together, begin to build the outer edge of the puzzle. This will allow you to have a base to form the puzzle from. ________________, you can begin piecing the middle of the puzzle together.

______________, a puzzle is worked from the outside in so that you have a foundation to work from.