Read the poem. Then answer the questions.

This Is How I Fly

It's fun to fly
'Cause I can take
A spin around
This whole big lake.

They stand at attention,
My double wings –
Ready to perform
Amazing things!

I'm faster than
Mosquitoes and flies.
They're just my next meal
In disguise!

1. What point of view does this poem have? How can you tell?

2. Why do you think the poet chose this point of view? What affect does it have on the reader's experience of the subject?

3. Choose an animal, plant, or object and write a first-person paragraph from its point of view. (Use another piece of paper if you need it.)
