

Concluding Statements

Read each paragraph below. Then provide a concluding statement for each.

1.

I don't think that doctors ought to keep their patients waiting. A patients' time is as valuable as a doctor's. Not only that, a patient is already not feeling well. They are often in a state of anxiety, and waiting only makes that anxiety worse.

2.

You can substantially improve your quality of life by meeting at least one new person every week. Meeting new people helps you to learn things about the world. It also helps to keep you grounded. Regular interaction with other people helps you to put your own problems in perspective. Additionally, people who regularly interact with other people are more likely to pay attention to personal grooming and to feel better about themselves.
