

How to Train Your Dragon

A concluding sentence reminds readers of the topic. It sums up the information in the paragraph. Each topic sentence below states an opinion. Write a concluding sentence that sums up each topic sentence.

1. Dragons that breathe fire are more dangerous than dragons that don't.

2. What you think you know about dragons is more dangerous than what you don't know.

3. Dragons are as afraid of us as we are afraid of them.

4. Given an opportunity, a dragon can be a tremendous friend.

