Math-O-Mania

Peter hates math class. He thinks doing a worksheet full of math problems is the most monotonous thing in the world. Being stuck in math class makes him want to do something drastic, like sing a silly song at the top of his lungs, or throw paper airplanes at his math teacher, Mr. Lane. These thoughts distract him from his work, so he ends up with massive amounts of homework to do, which takes time away from his friends after school, which makes him hate math even more!
