

Introducing Informative Text

Informative text is often introduced in a way designed to grab the reader’s attention and make them want to know more. In this activity, you will practice writing an introduction to informative text.

DIRECTIONS: Pretend you are one of the editors of a cookbook, and it is your job to write short introductions for each of the recipes. Write a sentence or two to introduce the recipe and make your readers want to know how to make that dish.

Special Day Cake

Super Spaghetti

Lip-lickin’ Lemon Chicken

Empty rounded rectangular box for writing an introduction for Special Day Cake.

Empty rounded rectangular box for writing an introduction for Super Spaghetti.

Empty rounded rectangular box for writing an introduction for Lip-lickin’ Lemon Chicken.