Adjective Clauses

A clause is a group of words that contains a subject and a predicate. The main clause (independent clause) expresses a complete thought and can stand alone as a sentence. An adjective clause usually begins with who, which or that.

Underline the adjective clauses in each sentence below. On the line, the word each clause modifies.

EXAMPLE: __________ I have a date with the girl who lives next door.
_________ girl I have a date with the girl who lives next door.

_________ 1. That book, which is usually on a shelf, has been read a lot lately.
_________ 2. The man who asked us for directions is my uncle.
_________ 3. The meal that my mother cooked was awful.
_________ 4. The restaurant where we ate last night is famous for its chili.
_________ 5. The hotel that we stayed in always gets five stars.
_________ 6. My necklace, which was given to me by a dear friend, is very precious to me.
_________ 7. That woman, whom I do not know, was very rude.
_________ 8. I love that magazine, which I subscribe to.
_________ 9. Did you hear the song that Kent keeps talking about?
_________ 10. The package that Sue wrapped came apart again.
_________ 11. Jack, who is always obnoxious, annoys all of us.
_________ 12. The red-headed boy that is playing with my daughter is our neighbor.