

Wrap It Up!

A good concluding statement brings closure to your essay, restates the main idea, and calls for reflection or action about the topic by your reader. DIRECTIONS: Write a concluding sentence to go with each topic sentence below.

1. The motion picture camera was invented in the 1890s, and a proliferation of film production companies soon followed.

2. D.W. Griffith is one of the most notable directors in the American film industry, because of his ability to convey dramatic excitement through his films.

3. During World War II, war films were used both as instruments of patriotism and of propaganda.

4. Animation in movies first appeared about a decade after the invention of the motion picture camera.
