

Name _____

Writing Revision

Editing Practice

The sentences below all contain some kind of problem—sentence fragments, run on sentences, punctuation problems or some combination of the three. Edit each sentence. Use editing marks. Then, on a separate sheet of paper, rewrite each sentence correctly.

1. Mark is the smartest boy in class he gets an A on every test and never even has to study.
2. Over the weekend Paul had a yard sale he sold all of his old toys and made eighty-two dollars.
3. So miserable. It was storming this morning we didn't get to go to the park like we had planned.
4. Peter wanted to join the chess club. Didn't though because he didn't want people to think he was a nerd.
5. Since our new neighbors moved in the street sure have changed for one thing our new neighbors never cut their grass. My father intend to go speak to them about it
6. Watch out? Frank shouted. There's a truck coming!
7. Eats an apple every morning for breakfast. Eats a sandwich every afternoon for lunch. Eats a salad every evening for dinner. Kevin is very predictable.
8. Yasmine owns fourteen skirts one for every day for two weeks in a row before she has to do any laundry
9. can you hand me a pencil? I need to write something down before I forget it
10. we were disappointed last week when we couldnt see our friends but we see them this coming weekend instead.