

Choosing Credible Sources

Conduct research to answer the following question:

What individual had the greatest influence on the 20th century?

Consider the following:

- What was this person's major accomplishment(s) during this century?
- What type of recognition has this person received (awards, championships, etc.)
- What has this person accomplished in the area of helping others?
- Did this person invent or create something?
- How was life different for other people because of this person?
- Was this person's influence positive or negative? How or why?

Consult at least three sources. Below, record all of the information from each source that you will need for your bibliography, following the standard format for citation.
