

Making a Claim | Seeing It Though

DIRECTIONS: A statement that is not backed up by facts or evidence is just an opinion. There's nothing wrong with having an opinion; but when making a claim about a topic, expressing your opinion alone isn't enough. Consider the topic presented below. It is subjective, which means that there is no single right answer. The question calls for an opinion. Answer the question, drawing from your education, personal experience, current news, and any other applicable source for reasons and evidence to support your answer.

Do you think that America will ever see another war on its own soil? Why or why not?

Use the lines above to take notes as you conduct your research and plan your essay. Then write it on a separate piece of paper.