Exclamatory Sentences

All sentences begin with a capital letter. A declarative sentence is a sentence that tells something and ends with a period. An exclamatory sentence is a more excited or emotional version of a declarative sentence, and ends in an exclamation point.

Declarative Sentence: Sharks are my favorite animal.

Exclamatory Sentence: I can't wait to see sharks at the zoo!

Directions: Underline all the exclamatory sentences in the passage.

Mother duck loved to stick her head underwater. She would dig around in the sand to see what type of tasty treats she could find. She loved eating things from the bottom of the lake! One day, though, she got in over her head. She got stuck! She tried to pull her head out, but it wouldn't budge!

Luckily, a friendly goose saw her and came over to help. Her head was free! She thanked the goose for her help. She even shared the tasty worm she found!
