

Name _____ Your/You're

Your and You're

The words your and you're are homophones: they are words that sound the same, but have very different meanings.

Your means “belongs to you”: We read your book last night. Will you bring your salad to the party?

You're is a contraction of the words “you are”: You're saving that chair? You're going to play outside.

DIRECTIONS: Rewrite each sentence below, correcting the error.

1. If your going outside, you had better put on you're coat.
2. I love to see you're smile when your feeling happy.
3. The purple jacket is mine and the red one is you're.
4. They will be going to you're house this year.
5. Your going to make a mess if you insist on doing this.
6. If your on your best behavior, we may stop at you're cousin's house afterwards.
7. You're favorite song is playing on you're brother's radio.
8. If someone challenges you're beliefs, your going to get irritable.